

It is the first round introduction of strategic investment partners for AMBULANC in 20 years milestone. It is jointly sponsored by “Shenzhen hi-tech Investment Venture Capital Co., Ltd.” and “Shenzhen Songhe Growth Fund Management Co., Ltd.”. This round of funding will focus on the development of R&D capabilities, helping the group company to upgrade our marketing strategy, and start new journey in IPO.

Founded in 2001, Shenzhen Ambulanc Technology Co., Ltd. is a leading national high-tech enterprise specializing in emergency and critical medical equipment of first aid and life support in China. We are the only company in the world that has developed a full set of technologies and products related to CPR compression, airway management, respiratory ventilation and defibrillation in the field of acute, critical and severe diseases. AMBULANC has worked closely with high class research centers and organizations such as “Shenzhen Science and Technology Innovation Commission”, “Guangdong Association for Science and Technology”, “Ministry of Science and Technology” for lots of academic-business cooperation projects during these years. We are attention to industry-university-research combination.

By taking this chance we have established a deep friendship of mutual trust and recognition with our strategic investment partners. AMBULANC sincerely thanks all strategic investment partners for their support and trust. Today we have witnessed this historic moment together. It will become a major milestone of AMBULANC and open a new grand blueprint for enterprise development!